Q: Android: Delay between starting activity until service is done I have an activity that starts a service every few seconds. I have already done some research about this and have found this tutorial on delay before starting activity: How to delay activity start after 5 seconds What I want to achieve is to have a delay after the service starts before starting the activity. This way I won't start the activity every 5 seconds. Any suggestions?

A: I had a similar need to start a service and an activity at different times. For the case of this answer, it is not clear what the delay should be for, so, the answer is: when a delay between the two services has been established, the delay itself is called.

public class MainActivity extends AppCompatActivity { private boolean inService; private Handler serviceHandler; @Override protected void onCreate(Bundle savedInstanceState) { super.onCreate(savedInstanceState); setContentView(R.layout.activity_main); final long delayMillis = 2000; try { Thread.sleep(delayMillis); } catch (InterruptedOperationException e) { e.printStackTrace();
    } inService =!Service.isServiceStarted(); if (inService) { startService(new Intent(getApplicationContext(), Service.class)); } inService =!Service.isServiceStarted(); if (inService) { new Handler().postDelayed(new Runnable() { 3da54e8ca3
